Why it is useful

It is useful since it lessens the hassle for customers who have little to no time going to physical stores. Moreover, some customers prefer to order online rather than go to physical stores.

Sample data structure

User: Stores customer account information.

Fields: User_ID (PK), Name, Email, Password, Address, Phone_number, Profile Picture, and Role.

Implementation Details

How files are structured

- Both Assets and images folder contains images
- The db folder contains the database
- The vendor folder contains Composer and PHPGangsta
- The root folder contains PHP, composer.json, and composer.lock

Explanation of important modules

User Authentication Module

This handles user registration, login, logout, and password recovery. It keeps users logged in with PHP sessions and stores passwords safely using hashing.

Product Management Module

This lets the admin add, edit, or delete products and manage inventory. Product details like name, price, description, images, and stock are stored in MySQL, and JavaScript makes search, filtering, and image previews smooth.

Cart and Checkout Module

This lets users add products to the cart, change quantities, and remove items. Checkout collects user information and stores orders in the database. PHP does the calculations and JavaScript makes updates happen instantly.

Order Management Module

This lets the admin track orders, update status, and handle returns. Orders and order items are stored in MySQL, and JavaScript can show live order updates to users.

User Dashboard Module

This shows order history, profile information, saved addresses, and wishlists. JavaScript allows real-time updates like removing items from the wishlist.

Admin Dashboard Module

This gives the admin full control over users, products, orders, and site settings. JavaScript can show charts and stats, and Composer packages like PHPMailer can send notifications.

Search and Filtering Module

This lets users search products by name, category, or price. JavaScript handles live search and filters without reloading, while PHP gets results from the database.

College of Computer Studies

Security and Validation Module

This checks user input on both the frontend and backend. It stops SQL injection with prepared statements and keeps sessions secure.

Form handling and Server-side validation

Form handling

- User submits forms like signup, login, checkout
- Data is sent to the server using POST requests
- Server processes and responds with success or error messages

Server Side Validation

- Checks if fields are empty
- Validates email format and password strength
- Ensures numbers like price and quantity are valid
- Prevents duplicate emails or usernames
- Returns clear error messages to the user

Security considerations

- Prepared statements
- Password hashing
- Password salting
- Input validation and sanitization
- Database backups
- Secure cookies
- Session regeneration on login
- Role based access control
- Least privilege database user
- Encryption for sensitive data
